

We Didn't Playtest This at All

(seriously, tough)

2-17,3 3'/15' +15

In this worldwide best seller, your objective is to win! Simple enough. Sadly, all of your opponents have the same simple goal, and they're trying to make you lose. Between Rock Paper Scissors battles, being eaten by a random Dragon, or saved by a Kitten Ambush, there are many hazards to avoid.

Everyone starts with 2 cards. On your turn, draw one card from the deck, and then play one from your hand following the instructions on the card.

That's it, those were all the rules. Now enjoy playing this 5-minute game and good luck not spending your whole night playing it!

Author: Chris Cieslik

Illustrator: A zombie

Retail Price: €15

Classification: Party

Mechanics: Hand management, Player elimination

You

Place face up in front of you, and read aloud:

"Any player saying the words 'you', 'your', or 'yours' immediately loses starting now."

Good luck! :D

No! No! I said ewe, like a sheep!

Kitten Ambush

Play anytime. Kittens pounce on (cancel + discard) any card that was just played!

Draw a card for being adorably destructive.

Or, on your turn, ambush the draw deck, and steal 3 cards.

Thank you for shopping KittenTech. Meeting your adorable destruction needs since 1994.

Comic Sans

Place in front of you.

Each player must say "Comic Sans is Awesome" before playing a card on their turn, or they lose!

Yes, this is an evil card.

The font of champions! And by champions we mean terrible people.

Spite

Play this card if another player just won, and you're otherwise still in the game.

They lose instead! But so do you.

Were you playing The Game? If so, you just lost! <3!

these are the cards

Components

97 cards, 01 rules leaflet and 0 bananas